

The following lists include Dog Trainers, Obedience Schools and Behaviorists in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin, with which/whom LEARN volunteers have personal experience.

Before you select a school or trainer, you should observe the class you are considering attending and consider: Are you comfortable with the training techniques? Are the people and the dogs comfortable and having fun?

Also, visit: www.apdt.com/trainers-and-owners/trainer-search/choosing-a-trainer.htm#choose This website provides information on how to pick a good trainer/obedience school as well as a list of APDT member and CPDT trainers in your area. (APDT = Association of Pet Dog Trainers. A trainer can also earn the title CPDT = Certified Pet Dog Trainer by logging at least 300 hours of dog training experience and passing a thorough exam administered by the Certification Council of Pet Dog Trainers (CCPDT).)
